

Figure 1: This demonstrates accessory tongue tissue extruding from the left lateral side of the patient's tongue via a granulated stalk. There was no evidence of acute bleeding.

